Secession Movements.

We copy the following telegraphic dis patches and give them this prominent po sition in our columns, believing that they will give our readers a better idea of the state of affairs in the south than would the same amount of matter that we might write concerning the matter. The march of disunion is surely coward, and our in dividual opinion is, that it will not cease until several of the southern States wil have withdrawn from the confederacy.-As long as the Abolition States keep their present laws on their Statutes concerning are the result of the result. Hurrah for the Fugitive Slave Laws, and as long Abelitionists and free negroes continue to reeist the laws of the Uni ed States, we say tion. the south is grossly wronged, and, as there is no probability that these laws will be repealed, or that these unlawful mobs will cease to insult, abuse and wrong southern men, we conceive, that to say the least of it, those States that have an excuse for doing what they now appear determined to
